World renowned primatologist, Dr Jane Goodall, at The African Tulip hotel

In July 2011, The African Tulip hotel together with Roy safaris was proud to host, Dr. Jane Goodall, the world re-known primatologist and founder of The Jane Goodall Institute. Her visit was to mark the 50th anniversary of her charismatic research of wild Chimpanzee in their natural habitats in Gombe stream National Park. Many events were organized in Arusha including visits to various schools hosting roots n shoots programs as well as the inspirational screening of "Jane's journey".

Dr Goodall was accompanied by Researcher Dr Anthony Collins as well as Roots N shoots Program coordinator, Mr Japhet Jonas Mwanang'ombe who stayed at the hotel for a couple of nights.

Dr. Goodall and her team were specifically in Arusha to promote the Roots and Shoots program, which is currently instilled in many schools in Arusha region as well as throughout Tanzania and in over 100 countries around the world. This program was started by Dr Jane Goodall herself, who strongly believes that the youth, wherever in the world they may be, can bring about lasting change and make the world a better place for future generations.

Roots and Shoots is an extracurricular activity for school children and young adults, which brings much needed awareness and promotes proactive problem solving skills. Projects can be divided into three main categories: Issues affecting people and communities, issues affecting animals and wildlife, and issues affecting the environment. Since its inception over 20 years ago, the program has received thousands of reports from around the world documenting how young people have made changes in their communities.

The African Tulip organized a small, informal, Canapé & Cocktail event where in-house guests as well as Some Arusha residents (who were fortunate to book quickly enough) got an amazing opportunity to hear Dr Jane Goodall and to have a one-to-one talk with her and have books signed by Dr Jane Goodall at the hotels' Zanzibar lounge. So inspiring was her talk that the question session that followed revealed a lot of interesting facts...

Dr. Jane Goodall truly is a role model, a symbol and spirit of humanity, as well as an incredible and unique woman who truly is an inspirational woman.
